Kittens, Wildcats Are Ready For Centre

YEARLING TEAMS ARE REPORTED AS EVENLY MATCHED

Kittens Have Worked Hard for Freshman Classic Which Is to Be Played Here This Afternoon

This afternoon at 2 o'clock, on Stoll field, the annual game between the frosh gridmen of Centre and the University of Kentucky will be held. This freshman football game has grown to be second only in interest to the annual clash between the varsity teams representing the two institutions.

So far this year, Centre's frosh have made an impressive record for themselves. They have beaten the University of Louisville yearlings by a 40-0 score, and a few weeks back they journeyed across to the north side of Lexington and trounced the Transylvania first year men by a 56-0 count. Last week in a very close game, and one that came as an upset to the dope bucket, the Kentucky Wesleyan frosh downed the Lieutenants 7 to 6. This game is the only mar upon the Centre frosh record.

The Kentucky freshmen have played three games this season. In the first game they tied Georgetown frosh 0-0, in a game featured by the lack of punch at critical times on State's part. Vanderbilt defeated the Kittens in a close contest, 7-2. This was one of the best games played on Stoll field this season. Then last week a giant yearling aggregation from West Virginia trounced the Kittens by a 19-6 score.

The odds on the game today are practically even, and the winner of the contest will have a strong claim on the frosh inter-collegiate football title in Kentucky. Both teams are in good shape, with only a few minor injuries troubling squads. The contest promises to be very close, and the football should be on a par with that seen in varsity games this year.

First Romney Play of Season Is Big Success

Next Production Will Be Presented
Just Before Christmas Holidays

"The Visiting Lady," the first play given this season by the Romney Theater, closed a successful run Wednesday night after being presented before packed houses for the past ten evenings.

The management of Romney was highly pleased with the appreciative manner in which the comedy by Troy Perkins, a graduate student of the university was received at its first presentation on any stage.

According to those in charge of the Romney all efforts will be made to present the next play before the Christmas holidays. No play has been selected for presentation yet but the following are under consideration and probably one will be decided upon by next week. They are, "Outward Bound," "The Doll's House," and "Androcles and the Lion."

Special rates have been made for season tickets which can be bought by faculty members and students for $5 for a double ticket and $3 for a single ticket. Any organization with more than 10 members which has a 100 per cent subscription will be entitled to a reduction of 25 per cent of the regular rates.

Members Are Wanted for University Band

An opportunity is now offered for students who would like to play band instruments and eventually be in the university band, according to Elmer G. Sulzer, director. One of the aims of the music department is to develop new material, and if a prospective student shows sufficient interest in this kind of work, instruments can in some instances be loaned.

Mr. Sulzer would also like to have all players of band instruments in the university not in the waiting list so that they may be given an opportunity to join at the first opportunity. The band instrumentation is complete at the present time but withdrawals are constantly occurring and an applicant for membership will find it to his advantage to have his name on the waiting list.

STUDENTS STUDY LIFE OF RUSSIA

Departments of Music, Art,
English, Social Sciences, Economics Cooperate to Make
Program Success

PAN-POLITIKON IS SPONSOR

Various phases of the life and culture of Russia are being studied in all departments of the university this month, in accordance with the program arranged by the Pan Politikon, student organization for the study of international relations, which has arranged for the study of three foreign countries during the term, with November as the month to be devoted to Russia, and February and April as the respective months for the study of China and Italy.

The music department has planned a very interesting program for Russian month. The orchestra concert to be given in the men's gym November 20, from 3 to 5, will consist entirely of Russian music.

Scabbard and Blade Pledges Four Officers

Terrell, Ferguson, Wilson and Salmon Are Taken Into
Military Fraternity

Company D, Fourth Regiment of Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military fraternity, held pledging services for four commissioned officers of the university R. O. T. C. unit Friday morning in the Men's gymnasium.

Those pledged are: O. F. Terrell, Elizabethtown; W. R. Ferguson, La Center; W. C. Wilson, Lexington, and J. L. Salmon, Paducah.

Scabbard and Blade is nationally known as the outstanding military fraternity. The organization was founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1905. This chapter was founded in 1923.

The fraternity accepts only commissioned officers. Besides the active chapter, the entire group of commissioned officers under Colonel Hobbs are honorary members.

The Old Philosopher Gives Up in Despair; the Modern Mysteries of Life Are Too Numerous for Him

(By Alfred P. Robertson)

The old philosopher sat in the gymnasium on the marble bench from which he had for many years taught the young men with words of wisdom. On his face was a look of pensive sadness. It was evident that he contemplated grievous things. His favorite pupil, approaching, saw the look.

"May a devoted pupil ask of what the master is thinking that his eyes should look forth with sadness?" The old philosopher looked up with a fond smile at his favorite pupil.

"Sit down, my son, and I will tell you." The pupil did as he was bid. The master did not speak at once, then slowly, musingly he began. "My son, it is a proud calling, that of the philosopher. For centuries the philosophers have been the teachers, the leaders, the thinkers of men. Others have furnished food for the body.

Students Will Gather Tonight In Mighty Rally to God of Pep

KITTENS TO MEET TENNESSEE RATS

University Yearlings Will Play
One of Strongest Freshman
Teams in South, November
26, at Knoxville

GAME WILL END SEASON

By Tom Cochran
On Saturday, November 26, the University of Kentucky Kittens are scheduled to meet one of the strongest freshman football teams in the South. On that day they will face the yearling team of the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. This game will end the season for the Kittens.

The Tennessee frosh, thought by many to have the best yearling team in the South, has a very impressive record in games won this fall. They met and defeated the Georgetown freshmen by the score of 32 to 0 and last Saturday they handed the strong Vanderbilt frosh a 24 to 6 licking.

The showing of the Kittens this year has not been up to expectations and on paper they do not stack up with the Tennesseans. The Kittens played a rather ragged 0 to 0 tie game with Georgetown in the opening contest of the season. Following this the yearlings lost to the Vanderbilt frosh by the score of 7 to 2 in a game in which the Kentuckians should have won by two touchdowns had they not lacked drive when close to the goal line. Last Saturday the Kittens lost a hard fought game to the powerful University of West Virginia freshmen by the score of 10 to 6.

CONVOCATION TO TO BE HELD TODAY

Miss Ellenor Cook, Nationally Known Interpreter of Russian Folk Songs Will Give Recital Here

TO APPEAR TWICE TODAY

This morning at 9 o'clock in the university gymnasium the second of a series of programs in observance of Russian month will be given, when Miss Ellenor Cook, nationally known interpreter of Russian songs and dances, with her accompanist Miss Eugenia Folliard, will give a folk song recital in costume. A second recital will be given by the same artists at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The program is sponsored by the Pan-Politikon Club of the university.

Miss Cook has gained prominence with her song recitals, possessing considerable ability as a pianist and a voice which has gained much praise. She has studied and specialized in the music of all eastern Europe and her skill in portraying the songs, dances, dress and costumes is said to be exceptional. Miss Folliard is an able accompanist, and this second program on Russian subjects is eagerly awaited by music lovers.

The past summer Miss Cook traveled with the Redpath Chautauqua circuit. In the summer of 1926 she visited small villages in Poland, Hungary, Roumania, and other slavic nations in search of color and schemes for her recitals. She had an audience with Queen Marie of Rumania, and the dress in which she was presented to Her Majesty is one of her costumes.

Meetings Will Be Held at Gym and Kentucky Theater to Arouse "Beat Centre"
Spirit

ROOTERS TO "GET RIGHT"

Tonight in the vaulted gymnasium of the university and in the shaded depths of the auditorium of the Kentucky theater, the denizens of the campus will hold riotous rites to the great god Pep in preparation for the ordeal of blood in which the chosen warriors of the Blue will engage tomorrow in the ancient city of Danville. High priests of Pep, clothed in robes of pure white and brilliant blue and carrying tokens of their office, the beribboned megaphone, will preside over the rites.

In short, folks, we're going to have a pep meeting tonight and you're going to be there. The team is right and we're going to get right. We're going to come out and make our amends to the great god Pep for any sins of omission that we might have committed during the present season. The high priests, John Jewell, Dick Engstrom, and Lawton Daly, will be there with rejuvenated voices and brand new megaphones to help us get right.

After we have done all the vocal damage possible to the gym, we are going to repair to the Kentucky theater where Mr. Payne, a loyal supporter of the Blue, will help us with the supplications. He and Sub-priests Bob Thompson, Bennie Edwards and Louis Cox have prepared a snappy program of procedure. "The Eighty and Four" led by "Bromo" Sulzer will add its brass threat to the melody of voices in the beseeching wail. The men's Glee club will do its bit and so will Hayden Read with his wheeze-engine. Dick Engstrom, one of the priests of Pep, will do a dance sacred to the great god Pep.

Come, all ye people, join your voices in the prayers of supplication that our shouts of encouragement may change tomorrow to roars of exultation and our evening meal to a feast of victory.

MANY EXPECTED ON 'CAT SPECIAL

Southern Railway to Run Extra
Train to Danville for Football Classic; Cadet Corps to Be on Board

LEAVES LEXINGTON 12:20

For those who must depend upon public facilities for their transportation to Danville for the Kentucky football classic, the Southern Railway will run a Wildcat special to leave Lexington at 12:20 o'clock Saturday morning. The fare will be $1.50 and in order to be sure that the Wildcats lack no rooters, the university council has excused all students from their fourth hour Saturday classes. Let's go!

The special will leave Danville on the return trip at 11:59 Saturday night. Those who desire to return earlier may get a train out of Danville at 5:50 in the afternoon. Tickets are on sale at the University Book Store. Advance sales indicate that almost 1,000 students will make the trip on the special.

On the special train will be the cadet corps of the university, some 600 strong, who will be starting a freedom by attending a game away from home in uniform and as a unit. On its arrival in Danville, the unit will march to the stadium and parade on the playing field before taking seats.

DOCTOR GRAVES TO SPEAK

Dr. Stewart Graves, dean of the Medical School of the University of Louisville, will deliver an address to the Pre-medical Society at 4 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, in room 207 of the Science building.

Dr. Graves will speak upon an education for a medical career. He is a very interesting speaker and no pre-medical student can afford to miss the opportunity to hear this address.

No Kernel Will Be Issued Next Week

Since Thursday is Thanksgiving and Thanksgiving is a holiday, and since The Kernel staff objects to working on, before, or after a holiday, there will be no Kernel next week. We hope the Alumni will not miss their Kernel at Homecoming and feel slighted. If they can do without it, we will try to stand the loss and we will all have a good time together. Expect the next issue, December 2. See you at the game. Yea team! Beat Tennessee!

'CATS PLAY VOLS HERE THURSDAY

Hundreds of Homecomers Are Expected to See Annual Thanksgiving Tussle With Tennessee Team

VISITORS ARE POWERFUL

When the impending annual Centre struggle is finally written in history, the Wildcats will start preparation for the season's nightcap battle here next Thursday afternoon on Stoll field. The University of Tennessee Volunteers will play the titular role and the Wildcats will come in for their part of the Thanksgiving Day acting.

Battle or no battle, it is the annual Homecoming Day for the University of Kentucky and the annual tilt between the Vols and Wildcats always comes on that day. This year the game will mean a lot to Kentucky and Coach Gamage and his charges will do everything within their power to trounce the Vols, who have a perfect record with the exception of a tie game.

Coach Bob Neyland and his 40-odd campaigners will arrive here Wednesday afternoon for a light workout. Gamage and his charges will limber up a little the same afternoon and the two teams will anxiously await the starting signal.

At the time of writing the outcome of the Wildcats' game with Centre is uncertain, but it is hoped that the struggle will not cripple the Blue and White in order that they might be able to give the Tennesseans a tougher battle.

KERNEL STAFF HOLDS ELECTION

Glanz, Pumphrey, and Davidson
Are Chosen to Fill Unexpired
Terms of Retiring
Editors

TAKE OFFICE DECEMBER 10

William H. Glanz, junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, was elected editor-in-chief of The Kernel at a special meeting of the staff held yesterday noon in The Kernel office. Byron Pumphrey, junior in the Arts and Sciences College, was named managing editor, and Frank Davidson, a sophomore in the Arts and Sciences College, was chosen to fill the newly-created office of assistant managing editor.

The new editors of The Kernel will take office December 10 and will assume control of the paper for the December 16 edition. They will fill the unexpired terms of John R. Bullock, present editor who will be graduated from the university in January, and of Niel Plummer, managing editor, who on account of employment on a city paper was obliged to give up his work on The Kernel.

William Glanz, the editor-elect of The Kernel, a native of Louisville, has been on The Kernel staff for two years, serving as assistant news editor for the past year. He is a member of Delta Chi, social fraternity; Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity; and SuKy circle.

The new managing editor, Byron Pumphrey, of Lexington, has taken a

Kentucky and Centre First Met in Old Baseball Park Here Thirty-six Years Ago

(By Kady Elvove)

Gray November skies, brisk autumn winds, cheery collegiate greetings, fat gobbling turkeys, gay holiday dances --- Thanksgiving's in the air --- and the Centre game!

Football games may come and go, but to loyal students and alumni of the University of Kentucky, there is only one game that really matters and that is the annual clash between the wearers of Kentucky's Blue and White and Centre's White and Gold.

When eleven valiant students, representing the University of Kentucky, met a team from Centre College, on the old Lexington baseball field thirty-six years ago, they little dreamed that they were writing the first chapter in the history of Kentucky's football classic.

Tomorrow thousands of football enthusiasts will witness the thirty-second battle between Centre's Colonels

MEN'S GLEE CLUB TO SING

The Philharmonic orchestra of the university under the direction of Prof. Carl Lampert, will make its first appearance of the season in the Men's gymnasium Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Recognized for the past few years as one of the leading musical organizations of its kind, the Philharmonic orchestra played before packed houses last year at the monthly concerts. Especially has it been popular with the student body.

The program Sunday will consist entirely of Russian music in conformity with the plans of the international relations study committee of the university, which has designated November as the month to be devoted to the Wildcats and Colonels pay visits each year and this year the Wildcats will pack their trunk and journey to Danville to be the guests of honor at a fight to be held tomorrow afternoon on Cheek field.

Sounds like there's going to be a bull fight, but you're wrong if you guessed that. It is the day of the annual encounter between the football teams of the University of Kentucky and Centre College.

Centre has many tricks saved up purposely for the Wildcats, so word from the Colonel camp relates, but Coach Gamage heeded no reports this week and went about his business of sharpening the claws of his Wildcats and teaching them that they will have to fight to win from Centre.

Tomorrow's tilt will be a battle of the "praying Wildcats" against the "Praying Colonels." Centre and Kentucky have played almost on even terms this season, but the Blue and White has met the tougher foes. One cannot be too pessimistic when figuring out how Kentucky will beat Centre. The Colonels always play harder against the Wildcats and as was shown by last year's score, the Gold and White may spring a surprise.

The Blue and White has fought many hard teams this season and the light Wildcat team has worked hard for old Kentucky. Centre has met only mediocre teams and with her heavier eleven ready to face the Wildcats, things don't look so bright.

The Colonels have plenty of reserve strength and it seems that this reserve always finds its stride about the time the Blue and White battle draws near. The Wildcats with little or no reserves, have been handicapped most of the year by injuries, some of which are still prevalent.

"Beat Centre," has been the motto of all players, including the Kittens, who tie up with the Lieutenants this

Homecoming Feature of Thanksgiving Day

Alumni Will Attend Football Game in Afternoon and Dance at Night

Thanksgiving Day at the University of Kentucky means more than a turkey dinner. It is Homecoming Day! Old grads from far and near are coming back to see old friends and revisit familiar haunts of their "collich days."

On Wednesday night a huge alumni pep meeting will be held in the Men's gym with Judge Richard C. Stoll, a prominent alumnus, as principal speaker. There will be pep and lots of it for on Thanksgiving afternoon the University of Tennessee is going to try to prove that its football team is superior to our Wildcats.

Another feature of Homecoming Day is the SuKy dance at night in the gym. This dance is always one of the most outstanding social events of the year. Fraternities and classes have planned reunion lunches and dinners for the day.

Raymond Kirk, secretary and treasurer of the Alumni Association, has been receiving during the past weeks letters from a great number of the alumni in which they signified their intention of being present on Homecoming Day. Mr. Kirk stated that a record number of alumni is expected to attend this year.

'Week of Prayer' Ends Sunday at Y. W. C. A.

Observance of the "World Week of Prayer," which began November 14, will end Sunday, November 20. The Y. W. C. A. has been holding prayer meetings each morning at 11:50 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. These services will be culminated in one which is to be held in Patterson hall Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, which all students are urged to attend.

On Tuesday evening, at Vesper services, the subject on was Thanksgiving. A Thanksgiving play and other features were presented.

MORE ABOUT HOMECOMING

"Keeping everlastingly at it brings success," so the adage goes, and believing this we are going to once more urge you to come back to the campus on Thanksgiving day. This day has been set aside as homecoming day and one of the best football games of the season will be played for your benefit. There is nothing that we will leave unsaid or undone to cause you to come back for that game. We are anxious for you to see the team under its new coaching system. There are improvements on the campus that we want you to see and then we want you to see each other and become recharged with a little school spirit.

As to the team this year you already have read the record in the issues of The Kernel. It has not been so good as far as scores go but there has been a lot of fight in the little team. They don't know when to stop fighting. We digress right here to call your especial attention to the story of the game this week. Our team met another team that was almost as light, the Cadets outweighing our team only a few pounds to the man. The 25 to 0 score shows what our men can do when they meet a team anyway near its equal in weight and size.

Tennessee has had a big year and have beaten some good teams. Only last week they tied Vanderbilt which places them high in the race for Southern Conference honors. There never has been a time when Kentucky has not given Tennessee a hard battle and the wins have been about equal over the years that the two have met. We can promise you that you will see a mighty good football game.

The dance that night will be one of the biggest of the year. There will be hundreds of graduates and former students there. You will meet again classmates and dear friends. The best orchestra obtainable has been engaged to play for that dance. There will be plenty of music, plenty of room and plenty of your old friends. A good combination. Come on home.

They Tell Me

Neal Trimble McKee, B. M. E. 1903, M. E. 1906, is assistant to the vice president of the Superheater Company of New York City. He has just sent in his check for this year's dues and Kernel. His business address is 17 East Forty-second street, New York City. He lives on Burkewood road, Bronxville, N. Y.

William Frederick Hart, B. C. E. 1902, is a highway engineer with the United States Bureau of Public Roads and stationed in Omaha, Neb. He has offices at 864 Saunders-Kennedy building. He has been with this department for seven years and an active alumnus during that time.

Arthur Solomon Lovenhart, B. S. 1898, M. S. 1899, is director of the research laboratories of the department of pharmacology of the University of Wisconsin. His address is in care of the university. Last year he became an active member of the association after being inactive for ten years. We are glad to get him back in the ranks of the faithful.

Maurice B. Loevenhart, Ex-1890, is a merchant and his business is located at 261 West Short street, Lexington, Ky. Mr. Loevenhart is another former student who became an active and interested alumnus within the last few years. He now is one of the most regular members.

Walter Hillenmeyer, Ex-1911, is a nurseryman and lives on the Georgetown pike just outside of Lexington. He was elected a member of the executive committee of the Alumni Association last spring and will serve for three years. He is one of the most interested and active alumni of the university.

Earle C. Clements is another former student who is an interested and active alumnus. He has been an active member of the association for six years. He is located in Morganfield where he is county court clerk for Union county. He was elected to this office in 1924 after serving as sheriff of the county during the preceding administration.

Russell Hamilton Guerrant, B. M. E. 1908, is production engineer for the International Appliance Company of Chicago. His business address is Room 1102, 332 South LaSalle street, Chicago. Mr. Guerrant has been with this company for eight years. He has been an active member of the association for many years only missing the years he was in the army during the war.

Judge R. C. Stoll, James Park, J. J. McBrayer and W. C. Wilson Are Elected in Fayette County

HAVE LARGE MAJORITIES

Four members of the Alumni Association of the University of Kentucky were elected to Fayette county and Lexington city offices at the recent election. Judge Richard C. Stoll, was re-elected circuit judge, James Park was elected commonwealth's attorney, J. J. McBrayer was elected Fayette county senator and W. C. Wilson was re-elected commission of public works of Lexington.

Judge Stoll was graduated in 1895 and has been a member of the board of trustees of the university since 1898. He now is chairman of the executive committee of the board. He was appointed circuit judge of Fayette county in 1922 to fill out an unexpired term and was afterwards elected to fill the position again. He carried the county this time by a comfortable majority.

James Park was graduate in 1915 and is president of the Alumni Association. He was elected county attorney two years ago and still had two years to serve. His friends, however, urged him to become a candidate for the office of commonwealth's attorney and he finally consented to make the race. He let the party ticket by a large vote.

J. J. McBrayer, graduate with the class of 1916, has been an attorney in Lexington since his graduation. He has achieved considerable fame as a lawyer and was the only Democratic candidate for a Fayette county office to be elected. His majority was comfortable. He will represent Fayette county in the Kentucky Senate for two years.

W. C. Wilson, class of 1914, was re-elected commissioner of public works for Lexington with his usual large majority. Major Wilson has held this office for several years and his popularity was shown by the large number of votes he received. He was secretary-treasurer of the Alumni Association for three years, resigning in 1926.

Numerous other alumni were elected to offices throughout the state but a complete list has not yet been made. This list will be published within the next few weeks.

Westinghouse 9 years and before that was a professor of mechanical engineering in 137 Avenue A, Westinghouse Home Plan, East Pittsburgh, Pa.

Roy Whitaker Smarr, B. C. E. 1909, is an engineer with the Kanawha City Company of Charleston, W. Va. His address is Box 1135, Charleston.

Thomas Phillip Warren, B. C. E. 1910, is division engineer for the C. R. I. & P. Railway Company and is located in Chicago. His business address is 708 LaSalle Station. He lives at 7242 Harvard avenue, Third, W. Mr. Warren has been an active member of the Alumni Association ever since before 1914 and has not missed a year. This places him in a prominent place on our roll of honor. He also has been with the C. R. I. & P. Railway Company during the same time.

Carlyle Wilson Bennett, B. S. in Agriculture 1917, is an instructor in botany at the Michigan Agricultural College at East Lansing, Mich. He has served in this capacity for seven years. He has been an active member of the association for several years and always is one of the first to renew his membership each year.

Thomas Henry Cutler, B. M. E. 1903, is engineer of construction for the Missouri State Highway Commission and has his offices in Jefferson City, Mo. His residence address is 1211 Elmaine avenue. He has been in the engineering and contracting business for many years and has been with the Missouri highway department for about five years.

Green Elliott Dowis, Ex-1889, is president of the First National Bank of Blackwell, Okla. Mr. Dowis became an active member of the association a few years ago and has continued to be. The bank of which he is president is one of the strongest institutions of its kind in the state. It has resources totaling more than $1,500,000.

Walter Cole Jetton, A. B. 1913, is principal of the Tilghman High school of Paducah, Ky. He has served in this capacity for five years. During the time that he has been out of the university he has held several important positions, beginning as principal of the high school at Mt. Sterling, Ky.

Charles S. Milward, Ex-1922, is a contractor and lumber dealer and lives in Lexington. His address is 125 Bas-

Dear Sir:

The first copy of The Kentucky Kernel for the year 1927-28 reminded me that for several years I have failed to send in my dues. I thoroughly enjoyed its contents—even the advertisements reminded me of many happy recreation hours spent in Lexington.

I was pleased to note the large number enrolled and the number of new buildings planned. I hope in the years that are before U. K., it will make greater strides than it has in the past. With such a leader as Doctor McVey, I am sure this can be done.

Your for a greater U. K.

Arthur—Smith

Miss Middle Ruth Arthur, of Ashland, Ky., and Mr. Frank Smith, of Clarksdale, Miss., were married in Ironton, Ohio, Tuesday, November 2. The bride was a student at the University of Kentucky last year while Mr. Smith was a member of the class of 1927. He was captain of the football team last year and one of the outstanding athletes on the campus. He is a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, Lamp and Cross and Omicron Delta Kappa. He is at present playing football on the American Rolling Mills team in Ashland. He and his bride will go to Clarksdale to make their home when the season is over. Mrs. Smith is the sister of Mrs. J. Sneed Yager and Mrs. Jack A. Warren, all of whom attended the University of Kentucky.

Stillwell—Williams

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Stillwell, of Lexington have announced the marriage of their daughter, Lucille, to Mr. Robert Owen Williams, of Louisville, which was solemnized on October 29 at the Central Christian church in Lexington. The bride is a graduate of the University of Kentucky with the class of 1926. She was one of the most popular women students during her years on the campus. She was an actor and musician of considerable talent and took part in several Straller and Romany Theater productions. She also was a R. O. T. C. sponsor and a member of the Kappa Delta sorority. Mr. Williams was also a student at the university and was a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity, and Scabard and Blade. They will make their home in Louisville, where Mr. Williams is engaged in business.

LARGE PROJECTS

Thomas M. Howerton, 1908, Is Engineer for Some of Biggest Enterprises in North Carolina

WILL TOTAL OVER $8,000,000

Thomas McClaskey Howerton, who was graduated from the College of Engineering with the class of 1908, and who now is located in Asheville, N. C., where he is owner of the Howerton Engineering Company, is at the present time engaged in the three largest engineering enterprises in North Carolina. The three projects will represent more than $8,000,000 when they are completed.

The latest of the three projects is that of constructing a dam which will form a reservoir to hold the water supply for Asheville, and Buncombe county, N. C. The site for the large reservoir is known as the Pink Beds of the Pisgah National Forest. This project will cost approximately $4,000,000.

A recent issue of the Sunday Citizen of Asheville, carries a complete story of this development on its front page. There is also a picture of Mr. Howerton.

He is the engineer for the tunnel under Beaucatcher mountain which is just outside of Asheville. This tunnel will be 950 feet long and will take care of city vehicular traffic. A complete account of this job was carried in a recent issue of the "American City." The Swanonoa Sewer and Water System is another project which he is engineering. This system includes more than 90 miles of sewer lines and 50 miles of water lines. A complete account of this project will be found in the "Manufacturers Record" of recent date.

Mr. Howerton is also engaged in road construction in North Carolina and has had charge of a good number of the many miles of good roads constructed in that state within the last few years.

He went to North Carolina in 1916 and engaged in road engineering. He has remained there since and has become one of the foremost engineers in the state. He is a native of Shelbyville, Ky., and married Miss Patty Weakley, a graduate of Georgetown College in 1911.

C. W. Ham, '05, Writes Book on "Mechanics of Machinery"

There has been received in Lexington a very interesting book on "The Mechanics of Machinery" which was written by C. W. Ham, mechanical engineer and professor of machine design at the University of Illinois, and E. J. Crane mechanical engineer, chief of machine design, engineering department, Western Electric Company. The book is an elaborate treatise, beautifully printed and bound by the McGraw-Hill Company of New York.

Mr. Ham is a graduate of the College of Engineering of the University of Kentucky and a member of the class of 1905. He received the degree of M. E. from Cornell in 1908 and taught there for several years. He went to the University of Illinois several years ago. He frequently is in Lexington to visit his sister, Mrs. William Dunn. He always visits the campus and calls on former instructors and class mates.

Dies in California

Graduate of 1892 Succumbs After Seeking Health in West for Years

Butler T. Southgate, who was graduated from the University of Kentucky with the class of 1892 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and who for many years was one of the prominent attorneys in Lexington, died at his home in San Diego, Calif., November 5, according to word received here last week. He was buried in his adopted city.

During his residence in Lexington he was one of the most prominent attorneys of the Lexington bar. He served as police judge of Lexington for many years. After graduating from the university he went to the University of Virginia where he studied law. He was a member of several honorary legal fraternities and while at the University of Kentucky was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity and Lamp and Cross. He was born in Jessamine county and came to Lexington when 16 years old.

He left Lexington about 14 years ago and has been located in various places in the West for the benefit of his health. He had been in San Diego about a year and a half. He is survived by his father, the Rev. E. L. Southgate, of Lexington, and several sisters and one brother. He was never married.

Weddings

Madison—Darnaby

The marriage of Miss Ruth Madison, of Bowling Green, to Mr. J. L. Darnaby, of this city, was solemnized Saturday afternoon in the State Street Methodist church at Bowling Green with the Rev. A. R. Kasey officiating.

Miss Mary Van Winkle, of Louisville, was the maid-of-honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Bena Latta, of Water Valley; Miss Mildred Cowgill, of Owensboro; Miss Volinda Irvine, of Bardstown, and Miss Hester

Smith, of Bowling Green. Little Marilyn Madson Pormann, of Louisville, and little Rose Darnaby Apperson, of Lexington, were the flower girls, and the ring bearers were little Anna Josephine Madison, of this city, and Billy MacRhoads, of Lexington, niece and nephew of the bride.

The best man was Mr. Ambrose Stephenson, of Winchester, and the ushers, Messrs. Beverly Waddill, of Lexington; Henry Lewis, of Lexington; LeRoy Dodd, of Bowling Green, and Logan Cardwell, of Louisville.

After the wedding the bride and bridegroom left for a motor trip. They will be at home in Lexington.

The charming bride is a graduate of the University of Kentucky, the Bowling Green High school and the Western Kentucky State Teachers' College of Bowling Green. She is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Josephine E. Madison, and at the university was a member of the Phi Beta honorary music fraternity and Delta Zeta.

Mr. Darnaby achieved distinction in the military department of the University of Kentucky, holding the rank of major. He was a member of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, social fraternity and is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Darnaby, of 109 East High street. Until recently he has been associated with his father who is secretary of the Blue Grass Fair Association, and is now a salesman of the Mammoth Auto Sales Company.

THE SPIRIT

Perhaps every student has already seen the painted canvas sign which stretches across the entrance to the football field and past which every player must walk as he reports for practice this week. But in case some students and faculty members have not yet seen this sign, it reads

STOP

Don't pass this point unless you pledge your life, heart, and soul to extend every ounce of your energy to

BEAT CENTRE

The Kernel has not been able to ascertain who is responsible for this sign for no one seems to know. But we like its spirit. And we like the spirit all the better because we think it is identical with the spirit of the team.

No one who witnessed the V. M. I. game can have any doubt that the Wildcats are a plucky, fighting unit. In that contest the Kentuckians swamped a presumably stronger eleven through efficient team-work. Every man was a star—every man gave every ounce of his energy to the team. And tomorrow the university is expecting each player to repeat his performance of Saturday—to do his best whether we win or lose.

Since, however, the student body expects the team to give so much; to pledge every ounce of his energy to beat Centre, the student body must give something in return. In the first place there can be no question that the team is entitled to expect the student body to give its whole-hearted support. Further, as the university expects the team to bring only honor and glory to the institution, it also has a right to demand that the student body shall do nothing to dishonor it. It is needless to say that any rowdiness, disorders, or "scraps" between students would be contrary to the ideals of the institution and the student body, opposed to the traditional friendliness of the two schools, and decidedly out of place. The Kernel feels that the student body thinks enough of the institution to make unnecessary any discussion of this point.

What the university is anticipating is a cleanly-fought, bitterly contested struggle—such a struggle as has characterized the annual meeting of the two institutions for the past three decades. And may the best team win.

WAILS OF THE WEEK

FAMILIAR REMARKS

"Hold 'em Yale," remarked the jailer as he clamped the padlock on the cell.

College students are pretty bad, but consider the flea—his children will always go to the dogs.

AIN'T LOVE GRAND?

It was his regular night to have a date with her. Some how these nights had come to stand out as the beginning and end of the week. There was no doubt that he liked her . . . she was so, so—well, fine.

"Agnes," he murmured close to her ear (behind which she had only a half hour ago dabbed a little perfume)—"Agnes," he said again, apparently steeling himself for an ordeal.

"Yes?" she encouraged him softly, leaning ever so gently toward him.

"I—I—I've got to ask you something," he stammered. (Oh, the ecstasy of this moment and Agnes lowered her thick eyelashes.)

"Ah, don't you think that we will BEAT CENTRE tomorrow?"

LIBERTY IS EARNED

In last week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post, Dean Christian Gauss, of Princeton University tenders his fluent pen to that publication, and in an article rather ironically entitled, "Treat Us Like Men," discusses with the utmost fairness such pertinent questions of college life as how many "cuts" a man needs and how much control the student body should exercise in the administration of our educational institutions.

The dean is of the opinion that the college youth is not entitled to the privilege of being treated like men just yet and supports his view in a thoroughly convincing manner.

In regard to this matter of "cuts" the dean gives the students' side as expressed in an editorial in a student publication. The dean quotes the editorial in part as follows:

"We are fully convinced that it is an obligation that an intelligent man owes to himself to 'cut,' as often as seems necessary for the enjoyment of a course, the lectures of an uninspired and uninspiring professor. An overcut slip does not always indicate the shirker; it may reveal a student's attempt to save a subject from its professor."

Now the dean admits that this argument is reasonable and furthermore that there is a great deal of truth in it. But he goes on to show that the experiment tried in one of the universities proved unsuccessful.

It was found by that university that the "cuts" of the students did not distinguish an uninspired and uninspiring professor from an inspiring one. Rather it was found that only those classes coming at inconvenient hours suffered the most from "cuts."

In regard to administration by students Dean Gauss writes:

"The demand for a more self-respecting form of undergraduate government is, on the whole, a good sign and should be welcomed. In many cases, however, the demand, 'Treat us like men,' is not really a request for self government. It is merely the latest form of protest on the part of young men who do not wish to be governed at all. Unlike our radicals, they have no thought of governing themselves. This is especially true of underclassmen."

In respect to this, however, Dean Gauss believes that the collegian of today shows a higher degree of responsibility than was shown twenty-five years ago.

This problem of administration is indeed a highly complicated one, but student bodies here and everywhere are beginning to think more seriously on this question. This suggests its solution may not be far off. Meanwhile The Kernel is inclined to agree with Dean Gauss; we have not yet reached that stage where we can be treated like men. It is significant to note also, in this respect, that we have not elected to be treated like men. The Kernel would point out, that on the whole, we have been deplorably childish, but would add that there is a great deal to be hopeful for.

Freedom, it seems, is granted only to those who deserve it. To cite an instance, Harvard in regard to this matter of "cuts" has felt justified in granting unlimited "cuts" to those students who have satisfactory standings.

It all depends on the student body. To gain liberty one must fight with respectable weapons. We have not as yet employed respectable weapons, and until we do, things will remain as they are.

LITERARY SECTION

(MARTHA CONNELL, Editor)

JEANETTE

Where have you gone now, to-night?
To-night when I needed you most,
Thus to leave me alone in my plight
You, who are always my toast.

And the mood that I'm in is most suited
To converse in the language you hear
And I would have cheerfully wagered
That you would have listened my dear.

But now, that you've lightly left me
To brood, all alone with my thoughts
I'll see what I can do to forget thee
And gamble that all comes to naught.

Now, Heart! do as I bid you
What? You're not mine to command?
Then pray the devil, whose are you?
Can no one thine fancy so band?

Come now, be a jolly good fellow
And be as my sense would direct
You know, you're so damnedly mellow
Why now, so hard to forget?

Why she's just a light little creature
A flirt, a naughty coquette
There are other loves one can feature
There are other women to get.

The devil take you for aching,
Creating this pain in my breast,
But since, there is no forsaking
I must love you regardless, Jeanette.

—B. H. P.

THE MAD PHILOSOPHER

I walk with other men and seem to use
Words that are phrased as is their common speech,
And from their changing customs seem to choose
Such form of living as their new modes teach.
I mock no habits and give no abuse
To the wan superstitions that they preach
On certain red-marked days in Caesar's calendar.

I am so like them that I often think
On what makes people so unreal to me,
And I go puzzling if some subtle drink
By Circe brewed has set mad fancies free
Until I seem an alien on the brink
Of a witch'd throng of creatures that I see,
Who pass like shadow—things beneath some cruel star.

—N. G. A.

A LAST LIE

I lay down my pen. I have finished with it,
The ink has run dry and my hand has grown numb.
Scant fragments are left of an earlier wit
That gained for the moment weak praises from some.

And what of the hours I have lost from my time
When phrases sought birth in strange, wonderful form?
I weary of beauty and rhythm and rime;
Thou God of prosaic, henceforth I conform.

—Newell Gray Atkins.

How to Land a Place On The Kernel Staff

1. Boldly assail the doors of the Kernel office.
2. Look under all newspapers for editors, they can be found.
3. After finding an editor count three and say, "I want to be a reporter on the Kernel."
4. And now, if you are still alive, hold your ground, but don't argue.
5. If the editor refuses your request try a different corner of the room, excavate another editor from a newspaper and begin again.
6. Never under any circumstances attempt to put the office in order to create a good impression. "It is not done."
7. If your second interview is a failure try once more.
8. However, if your third attempt is a failure back out of the presence of these august personages as gracefully as possible, avoiding tables, chairs, typewriters and cat.
9. Should the interview be successful, and you are made a reporter on the worthy publication don't forget humility is the essential of your new profession.

Ed. Note: No. 9 is not in keeping with general practice. It should be: "Be very active until your name appears on masthead. Afterward you need not return to the office until commencement day, when you can congratulate the editors on their graduation."

SOME HIKE

New Orleans School Girl Covers 47,000 Miles on Total Expenditure of Five Cents

Forty-seven thousand miles on a nickel. That's the accomplishment of Miss Hortense Balmaze, 18, New Orleans school girl and hiker. Leaving New Orleans last September 28, Miss Balmaze arrived in Columbus last night.

"I don't know," she replied, when asked how and why she started on this tour. "I just started out and kept going. It is a wonderful adventure and everything seems like a dream. I have visited the state capitals of Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. I have met the governors of each state and have letters of recognition from them."

When asked if she would keep these, she said, "Oh, no, when I complete my tour my collection of hiking togs and letters, together with my diary, I am going to give to the National Museum at Washington. But I want to keep the belt Gene Tunney gave me."

"Are you interested in athletics?" Miss Balmaze rolled up her sleeve and exhibited her muscle. "Doesn't that look like it? Yes, I was just thrilled to pieces when I met Red Grange and his brother."

"What do you carry with you in the way of personal belongings," she was asked. "A few clothes in a pack and my uke. I wouldn't be without my uke. I often play over the radio." When asked what piece she liked best she laughed and said, "Me and My Shadow."

"Do you ever have dates?"

"Are you asking for one?" she returned. "I very seldom have a date because I have to be very careful, but I would like to go to a dance."

Upon being asked as to her next stop she said, "I am going down to Frankfort, Ky., tour the southern states, and try to get home for Christmas. Then I will start West and try to get back East to Washington, D. C., by the Fourth of July and meet President Coolidge. When I am finished with my tour—well, I don't know what I will do. That is a long way off and—I am too excited about the present to think of the future. I have several offers for contracts and many toothpaste concerns have asked me to pose for their advertisements, but I haven't done anything so far."

Cigarette smokers are financing the erection of a new $250,000 stadium at the University of South Dakota. The proposed armory and gymnasium will be the fourth state institution financed with funds derived from a tax on cigarettes.

Leading Citizens Meet Tonight to Plan for Mammoth Cave Park

With the state dinner drawing leading citizens of Kentucky from all parts of the state into Louisville, on Friday, November 18, and with the organization of volunteer workers proceeding briskly, developments in the Mammoth Cave National Park project are assuming the peak of importance in the minds of Kentuckians. Now that the state political contests have subsided, the public is taking hold of the national park project with real determination to carry it to success. All evidences received at the headquarters of the Mammoth Cave National Park Association in Louisville are to the effect that the next two months will find the Mammoth Cave National Park campaign paramount in the minds of the people of Kentucky and adjoining states. Two and a half million dollars are to be raised.

Under the leadership of Congressman Maurice H. Hatcher, national chairman, and Tom Wallace, state chairman, the organization of 8,000 volunteer workers who will conduct the drive is maturing. Sponsors of the effort point out that a national park in Kentucky will be within a day's ride of 76,000,000 of the East and Middle West. These people, up to this time, have not had easy access to a national park, as all but one of the national parks now maintained and developed by the federal government are west of the Mississippi. The creation of such a recreation ground close to the homes of the great population centers will mean a tremendous movement of tourist traffic from those communities into Kentucky. They will be a factor of vital importance in developing good roads throughout the state. It has been estimated they will spend $100,000,000 annually in Kentucky, a large portion of which go to state taxes for the building of good roads and other improvements. Every city, every country and every small community will be directly benefited in a financial way.

Consequently the appeal is to the business judgment of Kentuckians, as well as to their state pride and ideals of achievement.

Congress has authorized the acceptance of the Mammoth Cave area as

A SPIRIT THAT WILL ULTIMATELY GET THERE

You'll have to hand it to the Kentucky Wildcats for taking it on the button and coming up for more. After being smashed on successive Saturdays by Florida, Washington and Lee and Vanderbilt, we note the following dispatch from Lexington, in the Bluegrass state:

"Anticipating a bitter fight with Alabama, the Kentucky Wildcats were put through a furious session Monday."

Some of these days Kentucky is going to have a championship aggregation. The spirit of that university is of the highest. At the Vanderbilt game the Kentuckians brought their eighty-piece band along, also their sponsor and a real wildcat named "Fuzzy."

They were going to a certain defeat, but they put up a brave front. It is very seldom that a band will follow a team on a hopeless invasion. But this band did, with its beautiful uniforms and its high-stepping drum major.

The Kentucky team is a remarkable one in that it loses by large scores and yet makes almost as many first downs and yardage as the opposition. Reading that detail of the Vandy-Kentucky game, the first ten minutes of the first quarter showed the Commodores backed up against their goal and fighting for life. —Atlanta (Ga.) Journal.

KEEP UP THIS SPIRIT!

a national park, but has specified it must be a gift to the nation. Consequently it can be created as a national park only through public contribution.

James C. Utterback has been named regional chairman for the Paducah region, with C. W. Craig, vice chairman. Cecil T. William has been named chairman of Somerset region. Other regions in which chairmen have been named are: Bowling Green, Dr. H. H. Cherry; Covington, Brent Spence; Elizabethtown, William C. Montgomery; Hazard, Jesse Morgan, and Owensboro, Mark Stuart. Each region is composed of a group of counties and communities, and takes its name from the city in which the regional headquarters is located. The other regions include Ashland, Louisville and Lexington. The entire state is thus organized.

Dog Travels Far to Study at Old McGill

Montreal, Canada, Nov. 12. — A truly scholarly-looking dog claimed entrance to the Arts of McGill University faculty this morning. Undaunted by the cold and wet, he had evidently come some distance, confident of a sympathetic reception at the most broad-minded university in Canada. He wanted a worth-while college education, and he knew McGill was the place to get it.

Bill Gentleman, janitor-in-chief, did not at first appreciate the noble canine's claims; so that canny quadruped turned to the co-eds for protection and understanding. He took up a firm stand underneath the table in Woman's Common Room, and enjoyed a peaceful half-hour listening to the enlightening conversation of those learned ladies.

This event is taken as significant as a proof of the steady spread of the appeal of higher education. The spirit of the dog, awakened to the value of education, suggests that it is possible to hope something of the League of Nations.

It has been suggested that he showed the true spirit of the freshman in Arts in gravitating so naturally to the haunts of those who, in their role of co-eds, are accustomed to greater consideration.

ENGLISH STUDENTS NOTE

We'll begin with box; the plural is boxes, But the plural of ox should be oxen, not oxes. One fowl is a goose, but two are called geese. Yet the plural of mouse should never be meese. You may find a lone mouse, or a whole nest of mice, But the plural of house is houses, not hiee. If the plural of man is always called men, Why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pen? The cow in the plural may be called cows, or kine; But a bow, if repeated, is never called bine; And the plural of vow is vows, never vine. If I speak of a foot and you show me two feet And I give you a boot, would a pair be called beet? If one is a tooth and a whole set are teeth, Why shouldn't the plural of both be called beeth? If the singular's this, and the plural these, Should the plural of kiss ever be written keese? Then one may be that, and the two would be those, Yet hat in the plural would never be hose. And the plural of cat is cats, and not cose. We speak of a brother, and also of brethren, But though we say mother, we never say methren. Then the masculine pronouns are he, his and him, But imagine the feminine, she shis and shim! So the English, I think you will agree, Is the funniest language you ever did see. —Typosium.

First Hall of Grangers Still Remains in Ohio

The first Grange hall erected in the state of Ohio is still standing, the home of Lees Creek Grange in Clinton county, and is in active use for the regular work of that body.

Its dedication occurred 54 years ago and since that time more than 300 other Grange halls have been dedicated in the state of Ohio, while the total number of Grange halls owned in the United States is in excess of 3,000. Many of them are very valuable properties and adequately equipped for the varied work of the organization.

State Teachers College Observes Homecoming

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Nov. 18 (K. I. P. A.)—The first annual homecoming day of Western Kentucky State Teachers' College was observed last Saturday. Alumni, friends and former students were on the hill to visit friends and look over the many changes on the campus. Every one seemed to enjoy the day immensely, and it was declared to be very much of a success.

Western was especially successful in the closing hours of her homecoming day program. The Hilltoppers met and defeated the strong University of Louisville Cardinals in a close game with a final score of 7 to 6. Drewry scored for the visitors and Throgmorton and Williams gave their team the seven which spelled victory.

Doctor Miner Attends Advertising Convention

Dr. Miner attended the meeting of the Teachers of Advertising at Chicago in connection with the annual meeting of the International Direct Mail Advertising Association. Over 200 concerns were represented by booths at the exhibit and Dr. Miner brought back so much illustrative material in that field that he expects to have a local display of it here shortly.

Mr. Glanz, who is assistant news editor of The Kernel, left Lexington last Saturday.

Exchange Notes

Montreal, Canada. — Two McGill University students still believe in ghosts. It happened this way. These two students took a short cut to the stadium through the cemetery and became lost. About 8 o'clock they wandered to the caretaker's hut, and the caretaker came out clad in a white smock. The students, thinking the caretaker was a ghost, fled, and the caretaker, thinking the students were body-snatchers, chased them. When interviewed by a reporter, they said they did not believe the theorem that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line.

Seattle, Wash., (IP)—When the business manager of the "Columns," a University of Washington undergraduate publication, offered a $5.00 Ben Wade K. P. pike to the man who turned in the most subscriptions he failed to figure on the co-eds. A girl took him up, turned in the most subscriptions and claims that the pike is hers regardless. She is keeping it on display.

Three hundred and fifty girls at Mount Holyoke College have begun keeping a detailed account of every purchase they make, from hair pins to two-cent stamps. The records will be studied by the class in statistics under the supervision of the department kept on blanks furnished for the purpose of finding out the typical expenditures of the average college girl and the allowance that would be usual for her. These also include such large expenditures as tuition and board.

SANITATION

"We are at present operating what we believe to be the most sanitary barber shop in Lexington," says Charley Reeder, proprietor of the Lafayette Hotel Barber Shop. "When a customer enters our shop our barbers wash their hands with antiseptic soap before starting work. Our hair brushes, lather brushes and combs are used on only one customer a day. Then they are all thoroughly sterilized at night. We use powdered soap exclusively for shaving and Sanitex neck bands to keep the hair cloth from touching the neck. Our linens are never used on more than one person. It would seem that it would be necessary to make an additional charge for these precautions but we don't. Our rats are the same as other high grade shops and our staff is composed of only first rate barbers."

AGE NO BARRIER

Adults Learn As Easily As Children When Desire Is Strong Enough, Says Professor

No man or woman under fifty years of age need be discouraged from trying to learn anything which he or she needs to learn, by the fear of being too old, according to a statement recently made by Dr. Thorndike of Columbia University.

Experiments made with two groups of adults of different ages proved that adults learn many subjects faster than do children, and the fact is easily illustrated that the majority of adult students absorb more knowledge within a given time than do children.

In answer to the question of why so many adults think that they cannot learn so easily as children, the fact might be cited that the older folk lack the desire to learn. When the desire is strong enough, the individual will learn, as can be illustrated in the cases of mothers who have taken college courses with their sons and daughters.

The art of learning is one that can be cultivated by anyone, and is not restricted to young people in either degree or speed. Because it does have to be cultivated many people who have ceased to do so believe their inability to concentrate is due to old age. People of adult years who keep up the habit of study can bear testimony to the fact that with the acquisition of increased knowledge the ability to gain more increases rather than diminishes. This is only a logical development since the more one studies the more familiar should one become with the art of how to study, and that is, after all, more than half the battle.

—The Daily Nebraskan.

Wesleyan Asks for K. I. B. Tournament

WINCHESTER, Ky., Nov. 18 (K. I. B. S.)—A sports article in a recent issue of the Lexington Herald stated that an attempt would be made by a certain group of Lexington people, supposedly under the direction of Transylvania College, to bring the Kentucky intercollegiate basketball tournament to Lexington this year.

Kentucky Wesleyan College established this tournament in Winchester in 1926 and during the two tournaments that have been held the people of Winchester and Kentucky Wesleyan have treated visiting players and coaches in such a manner that every one attending them was highly pleased with their reception.

As Kentucky Wesleyan has already made plans to have the tourney here again next year and have gone to no little trouble in arranging for it, the college feels justified in asking other schools for their support in renewing this event in Winchester.

'DEBSTER' SAYS COLLEGE FOLKS ALWAYS HUNGRY

According to "Debster's International Dictionary," the newest definition for college students is: "Appetite with vocabulary attached."

Did you ever notice how many things on the campus can make you hungry?

For example—an unexpected quiz gives such an empty, all-gone feeling—as if you hadn't eaten for two or three days!

Then, too, if somebody comes along and vamps your best bet—well, you feel like "chewing," don't you?

Another thing—when a classy senior comes along and feeds you a line of apple-sauce—Well, you want to swallow it whole, now, don't you?

When a speaker opens his mouth wide and keeps it open indefinitely without saying anything in particular, your thoughts turn to food—you'd like to stuff his mouth with potato chips in the interest of humanity—now wouldn't you?—Denver Clarion.

Dr. G. J. Healy Speaks At Chemical Meeting

The Lexington section of the American Chemical Society held its 122nd regular meeting Tuesday, November 8, at 4 o'clock in room 214 of Kastle Hall. Dr. G. J. Healy spoke on "Colorimetric Measurement of the Reaction of Air-dried Soils." The meeting was well attended and the program was interesting.

Classes for Girls in Rifle Marksmanship

Classes in rifle marksmanship for girls, under the direction of Miss Helen Skinner, began recently and will continue throughout the semester. Coaches for the classes were selected from those who made the advance squad last semester.

Nancy Mary Wilson, rifle manager, announced that the following girls had been assigned as coaches: Virginia Ebert, Daisy Weems, Elizabeth Cramer, Virginia Robinson, Florence Geary, Gladys Sharp, Margaret Sims, Melvina Heavenridge, Winifred Worton, Bertha Wells, Nancy Mary Wilson, Ann Panack, Leida Keyes, Louetta Greeno, Laura Belle Smith, Elizabeth Skinner, Laura K. Johnson, Mary Ader, and Geneva Rice.

Each coach will take charge of one class a week, and all girls who have enrolled in rifle classes are required to attend two classes a week. Plans are being made for the advance squad to hold matches with other colleges.

Ellison—Haydon

News has been received here of the marriage of Miss Jeannette Ellison to Mr. Warren Haydon. The wedding took place November 12 at the home of the bride in Williamsburg, Ky.

Both young people were former students at the university. Mrs. Haydon was graduated in the class of '25. She was a popular and attractive member of the Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

Mr. Haydon was a student in the College of Engineering last year. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and was a most outstanding student in campus affairs.

After their wedding trip they will make their home at Anco, Ky., where Mr. Haydon is connected with a mining company.

Fraternities Organize To Discuss Problems

NEW YORK—The Interfraternity Conference, annual gathering of delegates from practically every man's fraternity at American colleges and universities, will meet at the Hotel Pennsylvania here November 25 to 26. More than 200 delegates coming from a hundred institutions of learning, will be present when the conference is called to order by Judge William H. Bayes, chairman of the interfraternity organization.

A number of college presidents and a score of deans and professors will meet with the delegates for a discussion of collegiate problems. Among the subjects for general discussion will be the question of scholarship, the movement for economy in education, the fraternity's relation to the parents of its members, the proper development of freshmen.

Educators Making Vocational Survey in West Virginia

A state educational survey of West Virginia is being carried on by the West Virginia State department of Education, according to Prof. Howard B. Allen, vocational agriculture. The vocational education survey is being considered under three heads; first, trade and industry under the direction of Prof. Edward S. Maclin; second, home economics under the direction of Prof. Rachell Colwell; third, Prof. Howard B. Allen. Dean J. M. Deahl has charge of the work under the direct auspices of the College of Education and those assisting him in his efforts are Dr. J. E. Bohan and Dr. L. B. Hill.

The headquarters are in Charleston and most of the educational workers are being sent out from that point. Dr. L. V. Cavins is conducting the survey with such authorities as Dr. C. A. Judd and G. A. Works, both of Chicago. The latter two investigators are acting as a council. The survey is the most comprehensive one that has ever been conducted in the state, Professor Allen related. Schools of private, public, secondary and of college nature are being inspected.

"This may be called a self survey," Professor Allen stated. The state authorities upon realizing the faults of the educational system are taking upon themselves the responsibility of making as many corrections as possible. Much money is being spent in the project. As far as possible those in authority are allowing nothing to escape their sanction without due consideration.

Parkersburg is being used as the model district in which the studies will be made. Rich and poor districts will be investigated alike. Investigations will be carried on for the next two months, Professor Allen concluded.—The Athenaeum.

STUDES ARE NURSEMAIDS

LOS ANGELES—Students at the University of California, Southern, have numerous ways of earning their way through college, according to a report of the secretary of the alumni employment bureau, but the most novel, for men students at least, is that of two men who earn money by caring for babies while the parents are visiting away.

Three students are motormen on street cars, while several operate taxis in their spare time.

Two more students act as interpreters to German motion picture celebrities living at Hollywood.

Many Colleges Forbid Students to Have Cars

With rush week at an end, student automobilists at many institutions are taking their cars home, and, by deans' orders, leaving them there.

As a topic for college press, chapel, and fraternity house, is the ever-growing stringency of anti-automobile laws, designed to remove at least one obstacle in the path of serious study.

University of Oklahoma, DePaul, Ursinus, Dartmouth, and Michigan, are among the drive-at-the-risk-of-expulsion institutions. Exceptions are made in some cases, where cars are needed for business purposes.

Princeton, with perhaps the most severe rules, grants the use of automobiles to disabled students only. These, however, are forbidden to lend their cars, or even to allow other students to ride with them. It was these rules which prompted the resignation of the student council last year. But the martyrdom was unavailing, and Dean Christian Gauss has made it plain that expulsion awaits violators of the rule.

RELIGIOUS DISCUSSION

Communism and Religion
From the Book, "The ABC of Communism"

Why Religion and Communism are incompatible:

"Religion is the opium of the people," said Karl Marx. It is the task of the Communist party to make this truth comprehensible to the widest possible circles of the laboring masses. It is the task of the party to impress firmly upon the minds of the workers, even upon the most backward, that religion has been in the past and still is today one of the most powerful means at the disposal of the oppressors for the maintenance of inequality, exploitation, and slavish obedience on the part of the toilers. Many weak-kneed communist reason as follows: "Religion does not prevent my being a communist. I believe both in God and in communism. My faith in God does not hinder me from fighting for the cause of the proletarian revolution." The train of thought is radically false. Religion and communism are incompatible, both theoretically and practically.

"The struggle with religion has two sides, and every communist must distinguish clearly between them. On the one hand we have the struggle with the church, as a special organization existing for religious propaganda, materially interested in the maintenance of popular ignorance and religious enslavement. On the other hand we have the struggle with the widely diffused and deeply ingrained prejudices of the majority of the working population.

Separation of the Church and State
The Christian catechism teaches that the church is a society of the faithful who are united by a common creed, by the sacraments, etc. For the communist, the church is a society of persons who are united by definite sources of income at the cost of the faithful, at the cost of their ignorance and lack of true culture. It is a society united with the society of other exploiters such as the landlords and the capitalists, united with their state, assisting that state in the oppression of the workers, and reciprocally receiving from the state help in the business of oppression. The Union between church and state is of great antiquity.

EDUCATION WEEK IS SUCCESSFUL

Many Speakers From University Appear Before Clubs and Organizations in Many Parts of State

K. E. A. PROGRAM STUDIED

Kentucky Education Week, sponsored by the Kentucky Education Association, of which Dr. Wellington Patrick, of the university extension department is Lexington chairman, proved to be a great success.

The program provided for a state-wide speaking campaign on education, and during the week which began on November 9, speakers on education appeared in every possible city, village and before clubs and other organizations. Parent-teacher associations, women's clubs, luncheon clubs arranged special programs and the proposed educational program of the K. E. A. was discussed at many of these meetings.

Dr. Patrick addressed the Winchester Rotary Club, the Lexington Kiwanis Club and Lions Club on educational subjects. Mr. Louis Clifton, also of the extension department, made addresses in Woodford county and Renaker.

President McVey spoke to the Parent-Teacher Association of Georgetown, the Paris Rotary Club and the Lexington Rotary Club. Dean Taylor, of the College of Education, addressed the faculty at the Agriculture building on "What Is Good College Teaching." Dean Taylor also addressed the student body of Berea, Richmond State Normal and Morehead Normal. Dr. Jesse Adams also gave several lectures during the week.

"One of the first decrees of the Soviet power in Russia was the decree concerning the separation of the church from the state. All its landed estates were taken away from the church and handed over to the working population. All the capital of the church became the property of the workers. The endowments which had been assigned to the church under the czarist regime were confiscated, although these endowments had been cheerfully continued under the administration of the "socialist" Kerensky. Religion has become the private affair of every citizen. The Soviet power rejects all thoughts of using the church in any way whatever as a means for strengthening the proletarian state.

Religious propaganda, belief in God and in all kinds of supernatural powers, find their most grateful soil where the institutions of social life are such as to incline the consciousness of the masses toward supernatural explanation of the phenomena of nature and society. The environment created by capitalist methods of production has a strong tendency in this direction. The capitalist society, production and the exchange of products, are not effected with full consciousness and in accordance with the preconceived plan; they proceed as if they were the outcome of elemental forces. The market controls the producer. No one knows whether commodities are being produced in excess or in deficiency. The producer does not fully understand how the great and complicated mechanism of capitalist production works; why crises occur and unemployment suddenly becomes rife; why prices rise at one time and fall at another; and so on. The ordinary worker, knowing nothing of the real causes of the social happenings amid which his life takes place, readily inclines to accept the "will of God" as a universal explanation.

"In organized communist society, on the other hand, the realms of production and distribution will no longer contain any mysteries for the worker. Every worker will not merely perform his allotted portion of social work. He will in addition participate in the elaboration of the general plan of production, and will at least have clear ideas upon the matter. Throughout the entire mechanism of social production there will no longer be anything mysterious, incomprehensible, or unexpected, and there will therefore be no further place for mystical explanations or for superstition. Just as the joiner who has made a table knows perfectly well how the table came to exist and that he need not lift his eyes toward heaven in order to find its creator, or in communist society all the workers will clearly understand what they have produced with their collective energies, and how they have produced it.

"For this reason, the mere fact of the organization and strengthening of the socialist system will deal religion an irrecoverable blow. The transition from socialism to communism, the transition from the society which makes an end of capitalism to the society which is completely freed from all traces of class division and class struggle, will bring about the natural death of all religion and all superstition."

"PEP TELEGRAMS"

Cheering Athletic Teams by Wire Has Grown to Huge Proportions; Coaches Endorse Plan

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. — To the Western Union goes the honor of achieving the "silent cheer-leader," for it was this company which developed the so-called Pep Telegram as a means of exhorting football, baseball, basket-ball and other amateur athletic teams to victory.

In a sense there is nothing new about "cheering by wire," for the custom of sending telegrams of encouragement to the home team battling on a foreign field is almost as old as modern sport or as the telegram itself. It is only within the past three years, however, that the volume of such messages has reached a size sufficient to warrant the telegraph companies in making special arrangements for handling them. Since 1925 the Pep Message traffic has grown from almost nothing to many thousands of messages annually.

The new service has met with hearty response from students and alumni, both male and female, in all parts of the country, and almost without exception it has had the enthusiastic support of faculty members, athletic association officials, coaches, team managers and players. Representatives of practically all the big universities and colleges have conceded the high inspirational value of the Pep Messages is not confined to the messages from home, but support to the larger institutions. The practice of sending messages of encouragement has taken firm hold at scores of smaller colleges and many high schools.

Nor are Pep Messages sent only by students and alumni. Thousands of these telegrams are sent by business men. In one Kansas town of 20,000, more than 300 Pep Messages were sent in connection with a single football game. The press of the country, too, has shown interest in the idea. Coaches are particularly strong in their support of the Pep Messages from home, and many of them have adopted the practice of reading a number of such telegrams to the team between periods.

"Just before the Georgia-Yale game of October 8," said Dr. S. V. Sanford, dean of the University of Georgia and president of the Southern Athletic Conference, "Pep Messages were received by members of the Georgia team from home-town supporters which accomplished much in spurring them on to victory."

Dr. Guy E. Snively, president of Birmingham Southern College, said: "I am very much in favor of Pep Messages to players or to the team as a whole. I believe it "peps them up" for the game."

"I do not believe there is anything," said George Little, director physical education, University of Wisconsin, "that might add more to the encouragement of a team in giving its best efforts for any high school, college or university than to have a telegram of well wishes indicating the backing of the people at home." Robert J. Ale, president Butler University, Indianapolis, believes that "Telegrams delivered to players just before entering athletic contests spur the recipients to do their very best."

"I fully approve of the Pep Messages," said S. A. Boles, athletic director, University of Kentucky. "They aid the team materially." Coach H. G. Gamage also is a supporter of the idea.

Every two weeks half the men and half the co-eds at Tiffin, Ohio, dine in each others' dining hall. This plan purposes to rid the campus of bashfulness.

KENTUCKY TRIUMPHS OVER CADETS, 25 TO 0

FORD, PORTWOOD STAR IN INITIAL CONFERENCE WIN

(By Herman Sharp)

Victory came as the fulfillment of a long cherished hope to the University of Kentucky Wildcats last Saturday at Charleston, W. Va., when they crushed the V. M. I. Cadets by the score of 25 to 0, to win their first Southern Conference game of the year.

Alfred Portwood and Warner Ford were the stars who were responsible for Kentucky's touchdowns, Portwood making three of them and Ford the other, by ripping the Cadet's line and ends to shreds, enabling them to reel off runs that gained anywhere from five to 29 yards.

Kentucky got the jump on the Virginians in the very beginning of the game, and contrary to their former mode of playing in other games, they kept this advantage throughout the combat. After receiving the initial kickoff on their own 31-yard line, Kentucky began a line drive that kept their opponents staggering, and pre-ty soon they reached a stride which various sports writers concede to be the best playing any Wildcat team has done in ten years. Exactly 11 plays were executed before Portwood plunged over the line for his first touchdown.

After the first touchdown, Kentucky was forced on the defensive and during the remainder of the half, Gamage's proteges were pushed back to their own goal posts by the Cadets, but they managed to take the ball in each case on downs. On one occasion they took the ball from the military boys on their own one-yard line. However, the half ended with the score 6 to 0 in favor of the Blue and White.

The Wildcats outclassed the Cadets in every department of the game and each member of the team is due a great deal of praise. Unable to penetrate the Kentucky line, V. M. I. resorted to passing. They attempted 20 passes, completing only seven for a total gain of 76 yards. Glib intercepted two of them and Miller one. Kentucky gained a grand total of 380 yards, every inch of which was gained on line plays, while the Cadets gained only 186 yards.

After Kentucky made its fourth touchdown, Coach Gamage sent in his

Kentucky Wesleyan Has Men's Glee Club

WINCHESTER, Ky., Nov. 11.—Kentucky Wesleyan College has among its students this year an experienced choir and glee club director, Mr. Maurice Thompson, of Winchester, who has organized and trained a glee club at the college during the past few weeks which will be ready to go on the road in the near future.

The club is made up of eight singers, four tenors, two baritones and two basses. It is the purpose of the director to add other voices to this group from time to time until he has sixteen young warblers in his organization.

During the Christmas and spring holidays the Glee Club will give concerts at leading cities throughout the state and shorter trips will be made on other occasions.

In Cross-Country Meet Hayes Owens Is First

Kentucky Easily Wins Intercollegiate Meet Held in Louisville Park

The University of Kentucky harriers ran away with the honors at the Kentucky intercollegiate cross-country meet sponsored by the University of Louisville last week. The meet took place at Cherokee park.

Owens, a Kentucky runner, ran first in the three mile course in 15:14; Bennett, of Berea, was second, and third and fourth places were won by Cochran and Dahman, Kentucky harriers. Berea men took fifth, sixth and seventh places, while Elliott and Johnson of Kentucky ran eighth and ninth.

The University of Louisville had a bit of tough luck, being robbed of the services of Captain Taylor, Hall, and Richardson, who were declared ineligible.

Kentucky was awarded the Lemon & Sons trophy and the first, second and third place men were awarded the Bourne & Bond, Kendrick, and Sporting Goods Trophies.

K. I. L. Awards Three Cups for Events in Rural School Meet

Wayne, Webster and Franklin counties scored the highest number of points, respectively, at the University Interscholastic League meet for the rural schools of the state, held recently at the University of Kentucky under the supervision of the department of extension.

The Franklin county delegation won the cup for scholastic honors, and Webster county was presented with the athletic trophy, but the combination of the points won by Wayne county in both divisions gave them the large silver cup awarded to the tournament winner.

This was the most successful tournament ever conducted by the department, in the opinion of many of the school superintendents.

Emery M. Nelson, chairman of the physical education department of the state Y. M. C. A. conducted the athletic events. Attractive gold pins with the letters "U. of K." and "K. I. L." and the seal of Kentucky in the center were awarded those of the contestants who came first in these events. Each of the counties entered in the meet were represented by seven pupils who participated in the meet.

Miss Anna Culton Wins Von Allman Scholarship

Miss Anna Culton, a freshman in home economics, has been awarded one of the Von Allman scholarships in the College of Agriculture for meritorious work as a 4-H Dairy Club member. Miss Culton graduated from the Parkville High school last June. She was a member of the Boyle county 4-H Dairy Club for three years and served as president for one year. She was also a member of the Boyle county junior demonstration team in 1925.

Su-Ky Will Hold Big Pep Meet Wednesday

Judge Stoll to Speak; Purpose Is to Prepare for Tennessee Game

Su-Ky will hold a big pep meeting in the men's gymnasium on Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock before the Thanksgiving football game with the University of Tennessee. The committee in charge of the program is composed of Frank Davidson and Lawton Dailey. This pep meeting is planned to be the best one of the season and is a feature of Homecoming Week.

A prominent alumnus, Judge Richard C. Stoll will speak and Coach Gamage is expected to give a short talk. "The best band in Dixie" is preparing several new selections for the game and will give them at the pep meeting. Johnny Jewell, Lawton Dailey and Richard Engstrom will lead cheers with their usual gusto.

Everyone is urged to attend this meeting, which is to be held in preparation for one of the most important games the Wildcats will play this year.

Kentucky Wesleyan Organizes New Band

The Kentucky Wesleyan band has rounded out its seventh week of existence and is in mid-season form. Under the able leadership of Mr. John Lewis, of Pikeville, the organization has made rapid progress during the past few weeks. It now boasts twenty-two young musicians, one of which is a young lady. The band has made several trips with the football team and on the last of these gave three public concerts at Ironton, Ohio.

The Kentucky Classical Association held its annual meeting at Kentucky Wesleyan College November 4 and 5. About 100 teachers and students from various parts of the state were in attendance.

The speakers were: Dr. B. L. Allman, of the Latin department of the University of Chicago, and Dr. C. E. Little, of Peabody College, who is also president of the Classical Association of the middle west and south. After the program the guests were entertained with a reception given in Garnett Hall by the Women's Club of Winchester.

Telephone men are continuously scouting along the frontier of better methods.

Who will scout this electrical frontier?

WHETHER in the Bell Telephone Laboratories, in the Western Electric workshop or in the various operating companies, telephone executives are scouts on the frontier of better methods to serve the public.

It is significant that your true telephone man, he with the feel of the calling in his blood, never speaks of having "perfected the art of communication." And this in spite of the fact that America, by its solid achievements in telephony, shows the world.

Work in the Bell System demands the bold curiosity of pioneers and the infinite pains of pioneers who, like Columbus, Lincoln and Lindbergh, prepared "and when their chance came they were ready."

12:30—Luncheon.

CATS AND CENTRE MET FIRST 36 YEARS AGO

the game 6 to 0. Well, the next year we got us some real football suits and a regular coach named Jack Thompson. We went over to Danville and started the game, but all the spectators crowded on the field and we had to stop playing. The referee gave the decision to Centre 6-0 again.

"In '94 the Colonels came over to the university grounds and—here the big good-natur'd judge paused a long moment, then added with awe—"they beat us 67 to 0! We had the satisfaction, however, of beating Central College that year. You see there used to be a Central College at Richmond as well as a Centre College at Danville. They finally united, but this game happened before that. We licked them that year 44 to 0! At the end of the first half, when the score was 10 to 6 in our favor, the Kentucky boys had a snake dance out on the field. Old Joe Castle, a chemistry instructor at the university, led the parade, shouting at the top of his voice, 'Ten to six! Ten to six! Central's in a helluva fix!'"

"Do you remember anything else?" I prompted as Judge Stoll ceased speaking.

"You make me go back too far, young lady," he said quizzically, looking at me over his glasses. "All I remember is that Centre licked the stuff out of us in '94."

"Well, are you going to the game Saturday?"

The answer was emphatic. "Of course I am. And I hope we win it!"

"Do you think we can?"

"I don't know. I always go to a Centre game with great trepidation, because they beat us so hard the year I played. They're tough nuts to crack, those Centre boys, and game as they can be! But I'll be on hand to see the game all right. There might be some cases to try in court that day, but there's one thing certain—there won't be any judge to try them!"

For five years after the '94 defeat which made such a great impression upon the memory of "Dick" Stoll, Centre continued to trample victoriously over its humbled foe. But in 1898, fortune smiled on Kentucky's standards and, led by Captain Charley Straus, the Wildcats won the day, 6 to 0. Their followers nicknamed them "Immortals of '98."

The rivalry of the next ten years continued unabated. The victories were about evenly divided, although Centre never equalled the score of 61 to 0 run up by State in the fall of 1904.

Dr. H. F. Clarke Will 'Speak Here Monday

Dr. Harold F. Clarke will speak on "The Educational Problems of Russia," in the University High school auditorium, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, November 21.

Doctor Clarke is a Kentuckian, having been born and reared in Jessamine county. He received his A. B. degree from Kentucky Wesleyan and his doctorate from Columbia University. During the past year, Doctor Clarke studied in London, and traveled extensively in Russia.

Doctor J. S. Chambers, prominent Lexington physician, who enrolled in the university in 1908, declares, however, that the "greatest game I ever saw played between Kentucky and Centre was in 1909. Kentucky won 15 to 6. The famed Seelbach brothers were playing their third year on Danville's side and it seemed as if all Louisville had come down to witness their home-town boys battle. Boy! That was a wonderful game! There were about six thousand spectators on hand and that was a big crowd for a Kentucky game."

"Dick Barbee was playing half-back on the Wildcat eleven. In the first half, Dick got a blow on the head which almost knocked him senseless. At any rate, he couldn't remember signals or connect the signals and the plays. They let him wander about on the field for a while, and, don't you know, he kicked a field goal while he was still in a dazed, unconscious condition! I don't guess you can believe that, but six thousand people witnessed it and Dick himself states that he can't remember what happened. In the second half of the game, Dick came back to earth, kicked two more field goals and made a touchdown. So you see, it's no wonder I call it the best game I ever saw."

"I played on the varsity squad in 1911. We didn't have a separate practice field in those days, so on the day we met Centre, our field was of black loam loosened by many rough and tumble practice games and made even worse by a drizzling rain. The mud was ankle-deep, but it was a good game and we won!"

"Oh, are you going to the game this Saturday?" I asked the former varsity man, as he came to a halt in his conversation. Without hesitation came the reply,

"Yes!"

"Who do you think will win?"

"You know who I think will win—and what's more I'm sure they will!"

When it comes to genuine enthusiasm for Kentucky football, no one can surpass the zeal of James Park, Lexington attorney, president of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association, and, as he likes best to be known, a Kentucky letter man. Like other college athletes, he likes to tell of former conflicts.

"I played Centre in 1911. It was a cold, rainy day. Every time anybody got tackled he slid about twenty feet. It looked like just a piece of luck to kick a wet muddy ball twenty-five yards for a goal, but that's what we did. The game was a tie until we made that dropkick."

"Am I going to this game? I certainly am. I've been waiting a long time to see Kentucky beat Centre and I think they will!"

"Black Doc" Rhodes, star on Kentucky's team in 1915 and 1916, upon questioning admits that he has liked all the Wildcat-Centre affairs. "But the game of 1916 was the best one. We won it 68 to 0. That was the first time we played Centre, after a dispute which interrupted our football relations for about five years. Interest in the game died down in the meantime, and it was just like playing any small team. But that 68-0 score helped us forget a lot of our old grudge against Centre and we certainly felt happy over it. Football hasn't changed much since that time. It's still the same old thing. That's why I like it."

"Will you be at the game Saturday?"

His answer was prompt. "Yes, ma'am!"

"Daddy" Boles, athletic director of the university recalls the first Centre-Kentucky game in which "Bo" McMillan, of national football fame, took part as a Colonel luminary. "It was in 1917 when our team first met 'Bo' at Danville. I can't say that he was much of an oil painting when it comes to looks, but he and his fellow Texans could play football! They beat us 3 to 0 and kept on beating us for several years. We got back on them, however in 1925. Our starting 'Cats ended their fast that year, 16 to 0. The game lasted until dusk, and near the close of the last quarter one of the university band members played 'Taps' on the cornet. It was the 'swan-song' of Centre supremacy. Oh, I know we lost last year, but just wait and see what we will do tomorrow!"

So they are waiting for tomorrow—all the former varsity players, all the loyal "grads," all the eager students, all the college world. And the results of tomorrow's battle will go down in football history. "We'll win," unanimously predict Kentucky's followers.

Indicate No Change in Tennessee Game Hour

No action had been taken by University of Kentucky athletic authorities today on a proposal made by the Kentucky Association that the game scheduled for Thanksgiving Day afternoon be moved up to Thanksgiving morning.

The proposal was made with the idea in mind that both the races and the football game would draw much larger crowds if they were not held at the same time.

S. A. Boles, athletic director at the university, said that if the game was moved up to Thanksgiving morning it would be practically impossible to let everyone who purchased tickets know of the change in time. He said tickets to the game had been sold to fans throughout the state and in Tennessee.

Before the game could be changed to Thanksgiving morning permission would have to be given by Coach Harry Gamage and the University Athletic Council. The University of Tennessee likewise would have to be consulted.

In view of the misunderstandings that may result if the game is played Thanksgiving morning, Mr. Boles indicated, but did not definitely announce that it would not be changed.

THE OLD SAGE DESPAIRS OF MODERN MYSTERIES

"You speak rightly, my son, but it is not because of them that I am sad. They are the secrets of the gods to whom we must bow. There have been lately added to them two more mysteries as baffling and as terrible as they. Already men have begun to look trustingly to us for an answer to them, some excuse for their existence, some explanation for their variability, some reason for their occurrence as they do occur. And again we must look into their eyes and tell them we do not know. Against these mysteries our logic avails us nothing. We are as ignorant as fools and as helpless as children. It is because of these that I am sad."

"Tell me, O Master, what are these new mysteries which baffle you? Methinks I have not heard of them."

"One is college professors."

"And the other?"

"Football scores."

Ed. Note.—What about the weather and the election?
